Privacy Policy

Attorneys, like other providers of personal financial services, are now required by law to inform their clients of their policies regarding privacy of client information. Attorneys have been and continue to be bound by professional standards of confidentiality that are even more stringent than those required by law. Therefore, I have always protected your right to privacy. I retain documents containing nonpublic personal information about you that you provide to me or which I obtain from third parties with your authorization. I do not disclose any nonpublic personal information obtained in the course of my practice except as required or permitted by law. I protect your nonpublic personal information by maintaining physical, electronic, and procedural safeguards that comply with my professional standards.
